Our Qualified Team

Our business is people, both clients and our care staff. As in any company, we have people who issue orders and people who execute orders. But, the "real bosses" are you, our client. We count on our staff to make a good impression to you. That is why we insist on professionalism...clean uniforms, good manners, and courteous language to show respect to our clients and promote a professional image as a company to both you, and the public at large, at all times. In order to function effectively, we must have solid policies and be consistent with our actions, to provide fair and impartial treatment for all.

Our growth and reputation depend on our staff and the care they provide. We strive to assure that our health care providers have the ability and knowledge to give our clients the best care available. Our healthcare professionals are required to enroll in continuing education courses and complete a state specified amount of hours in order to renew their licenses. Our Caregivers are offered ongoing training at Charter Health Care Training Center, our affiliated source for education, to meet our clients' specific needs.
